

Young Achiever of the Year- Education

A son of a samosa seller has cleared the Joint Entrance Examination (JEE) Main 2017 and secured his place among 100 rankers. Vabiriseti Mohan Abhyas, a 16-year-old engineering aspirant from Hyderabad secured All India Rank 6 in the prestigious entrance examination conducted for various engineering colleges, including the premier Indian Institute of Technology (IITs). Vabiriseti Mohan is among 30 students from Andhra Pradesh and Telangana who secured their positions among top 100 rankers in the JEE Main 2017.

Vabiriseti Mohan Abhyas scored 345 out of 360 marks and attributed his success to his parents, his teachers and hard work. His father is a 'samosa' (snacks) vendor who holds a local stall in Hyderabad. Vabiriseti Mohan Abhyas took coaching from a private institute located on the outskirts of Hyderabad.

He has decided to do engineering at IIT when he was in Class 8 and he never lost his way in achieving the goal. He attended all the classes regularly and with determination to make it big in IIT.
